Do you understand how important desktop wallpaper is? This may not seem very significant, but it can do a lot for you. First of all, it can make your desktop more enjoyable. Hilarious wallpaper can be uplifting, you can express your creativity, and this can motivate you to keep your desktop tidy. What else can it do for you before your own imagination and creativity. In this article I'll show you how to go about choosing the right wallpaper for your screen size, where to find the most beautiful wallpapers, how to have more than one wallpaper, and more. Your desktop won't be the same! 1. Get the right resolution Regardless of its artistic beauty, wallpapers that don't come in high enough resolution and matching ratio aspects will look grainy and distorted. To avoid awkward looking background images, you need to understand the specifications of your monitor before you start hunting for great wallpaper. Screen resolutions are marked in pixels, such as 800 x 600. The numbers show how many pixels the monitor can display horizontally (800) and vertically (600). The resolution also shows that the monitor in this example has a side-to-side ratio of 4 to 3 (horizontal: vertical pixels). Ideal wallpapers must meet two criteria: a fairly high resolution matching aspect ratio This article from CrunchGear Broken URL Remote provides resolution to the chart (pictured below), allowing you to choose the right ratio of aspects of wallpaper and resolution for your monitor. For example, if your monitor has a resolution of 1600 x 1200, you have a 4:3 side ratio. This ratio is red, so you can use all the resolutions in red that are 1600 x 1200 or more. So how do you know your monitor's native resolution and the ratio of the sides? Windows 7 Right click on your desktop and select screen resolution from the menu and look for a number next to the resolution of the zgt:: Windows XP Right click on your desktop, select the properties from the menu and switch to the set-up tab. You'll see a slider under the screen resolution in the bottom left corner. 2. Find the most beautiful wallpaper Number of websites that offer free wallpaper endlessly. Luckily you have come to the right place and we have already done some eating for you. You can get fresh wallpaper from our themed compilations or find your own favorites in the resources we've reviewed. Wallpaper Compilation: Wallpaper Resources: 3. Shuffle Your Wallpaper Now that you're skimmed through all these resources, you're left with dozens of wallpapers you like and you can't make up your mind. Don't despair because you don't have to! Instead of agreeing to just one wallpaper, why not use all of them? Windows 7 If you have a Windows 7 Home or up, you can personalize your computer and that includes a desktop. Tap the right button on your desktop and select qgt; In the bottom left corner of the window that opens click on the desktop's zgt; From: Select the folder where you stored the wallpaper or click See... add a custom folder. Select all the images you want to use and then select the position of the Picture to determine to zgt; change the picture of each... and check the shuffle so as not to see the same sequence every time. Finally click to save the change and enjoy. Windows XP Windows XP does not offer a built-in tool for shuffling wallpaper. However, there are many third-party apps that can do this trick. I use ScrollWall and I also like the John Von Switch. Another super fascinating wallpaper tool with a social wallcast twist. All of the aforementioned apps and a few more are described in these articles: 4. Create an unobstructed look of your wallpaper/s So you have this fantastic wallpaper or maybe you've already created a shuffling, but what is it that you see on your desktop? Lots of icons! To truly enjoy the view, you need to get rid of them! Before against AFTER IMAGE I wrote two articles that will guide you to a beautifully organized and minimalist desktop: 5. Get animated desktop wallpaper My last tip is to be: keep it simple. However, if you have the resources to save, go ahead and get yourself an animated desktop wallpaper. In Windows 7, you can use the screensaver as wallpaper. To use your own video, you have to convert it to .scr (screensaver). Windows 7 Windows XP Conclusion There is a lot you can do for your desktop with wallpaper. Just like physical wallpaper, it can completely change the atmosphere and set the mood. However, if used in excess it can also exhaust your resources. Let us know what desktop wallpaper tools you like to use and any wallpaper tips you might have. Aesthetics matter in the sense of the gadget, and wallpaper plays an integral role in this. So let's find brilliant backgrounds for your screens. A surprising number of sites are asking you to pay to download wallpapers above a certain resolution. That seems a little silly. Of course, finding images that make for good wallpaper is not as easy as it sounds. These photos should highlight the icons and text that appears them so they were not lost in the background. But you still don't have to pay to pay find such images. We have located several free apps and sites for a wonderful wallpaper experience. 1. Pixtory (Android, iOS): New wallpapers, new stories No longer available They say that the picture is worth a thousand words. But often, you have no idea about the context of the wallpaper you download. Wouldn't it be great to hear the story behind your wallpaper image? Then check Pixtory. The app, free for Android and iOS, has a wonderful new take on wallpaper. It gives you a bit of background about photography written by a photographer. At the touch of a button, you can read a larger caption. It is an acquaintance with new photographers, new parts of the world and new styles of wallpaper. Pixtory also periodically changes wallpaper, so you always find new things. In addition, you can make your own Pixtory and share it with the world so that they can admire their photos. Download -- Pixtory for Android (free) or for iOS (free) No longer available 2. Splashify (Windows, Mac): View and apply beautiful backgrounds The current desktop wallpaper change system is kind of broken. You search for images or browse them online. You'll find one that you like and check if it's available in the resolution you want. You download it and then go through a few more steps to change the wallpaper. Splashify simplifies the whole process a lot. Watch the app to see different background images. The app developer manually oversees favorites, so you know the cream of the crop. Otherwise, check the latest images in the feed, or view the most popular. Once you find an image you like, with a click it will be installed as a desktop background in the right resolution. It couldn't be easier. Splashify only works for Windows and Mac right now, and requires an active Internet connection. Download -- Splashify for Windows or Mac Broken URL removed (free) 3. World View Wallpaper (Android, Windows, Mac): Wallpapers that change by the time of day when you're stuck in a cubicle, away from any windows, time can kind of slip through.
